Niece of Ex-City Councilman Baumann Murdered in Gladwin

by Dave Atkins

Ronee Love, the 10-year-old niece of ex-Councilman Barry Baumann, was murdered in Gladwin, Michigan, on Friday, June 23. In a telephone interview, Baumann stated that his niece Ronee was stabbed five times, and that her alleged killer is Gerald Roush, a 49-year-old white male who presently is being held without bond in the Gladwin jail. Roush's arraignment was held on Sunday, June 25, and his preliminary trial date has been set for 11 a.m. on July 3, 1989. It is reported that Roush has had run-ins with the police in the past, but never for anything this serious.

According to Baumann, Ronee was walking along a road in Wiggins Lake Access in Gladwin, picking wildflowers for her mother, when several witnesses noticed a man grab her and drag her into a wooded area just off the road. Baumann said that the witnesses contacted the police but, by the time they had arrived, his niece was already dead.

Later, according to Baumann, another of his nieces, 11-year-old Susie Bratcher, was watching television when the accused man's picture was shown. She said, "I know that guy. He's one of our friends." Baumann believes that the man must have befriended both of the young girls prior to the murder.

Gladwin is normally a quiet little town where it's rare for more than a traffic violation to occur, but recent events have put the entire community in a state of shock. As luck would have it, on the day I called the local authorities about the murder, the detective who was handling the case was out investigating a drowning. One officer, who had just learned of the murder when he returned to work after his vacation, said, "It must come in twos; the detective is out on a drowning case now."

It's difficult to comprehend this sort of violence occurring in Gladwin — a small, peaceful town near Bay City. It's a place where Union soldiers once roamed, handing out apples to little children; a place where even the Indians came to get food from the farmers and townspeople because they knew that the residents of Gladwin would not harm them.

And yet it's true — a young girl, barely 10 years old, is not with her family today because she was murdered. According to sources in Gladwin, there was no apparent reason for the murder — there were no signs of sexual abuse, she meant no harm to anyone, and she was well liked — but she's dead, just the same.

No one knows why these things happen; they just do.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday, June 27, at the Sacred Heart Church in Gladwin.

Our deepest sympathy goes out to Barry Baumann, the parents of Ronee Love, and their family.

Anyone wishing to write to Barry Baumann can contact The Romulus News for an address where he may be reached. Our number is 941-3113. □

After-Hours Permit Put on Hold

by Dave Atkins

The first thing I want to say is that I worked as a musician in bars and night clubs for 35 years. During that time, I saw just about everything that could possibly happen in such a place, so, as you may guess, I am not really in favor of any bar, period. That is just the way I feel.

The fact is, however, that bars do exist, and will continue to do so in the future, regardless of my feelings. There is one thing I can respect, though, and that is a bar owner who runs his establishment properly and honestly, just as any good businessman would do.

All of this is leading up to a situation that I am very concerned about, and I am quite sure that not all of you will agree with my feelings about it.

Do you remember what Angie's Bar, which used to be at the corner of Wayne and Ecorse roads, looked like? I do.

If you go by that same location today, you'll see a marked improvement in the building, the parking lot, and the service inside. It's as though a worn, rusted, and decaying Model-A car was transformed into a brand-new, clean-smelling, smooth-running Cadillac. The place is now called P.J.'s.

The owner of P.J.'s, Al Acker, has completely remodeled his club from the inside out, and has made it into a very respectable establishment. According to Acker, more than a quarter of a million dollars has been invested into his club, and it looks it. This man has remortgaged his home in order to meet promises he made to the City and complete work on the building and grounds. In other words, he keeps his word. I really can't say that about all of the other bar owners I know in and out of this city.

Acker has asked the City for a permit to keep his club open an additional two hours (from 2 a.m. to 4 a.m.) for the purpose of serving food, coffee, etc. (not alcohol). Under normal circumstances, I would be opposed to such a move, but these are not normal circumstances.

In the first place, P.J.'s already has full restaurant facilities, including a kitchen, so there would be no problem with serving food for an additional two hours.

Acker, a former vice cop, also has given careful consideration to the potential problem of drink sales after 2 a.m. He says that drinks at P.J.'s are supplied through a computer system, and that, when the system is turned off, no drinks can be served. Acker is an astute businessman, and says he has no intention of putting his entire estab-

Before its renovation by P.J.'s owner Al Acker, this building at Ecorse and Wayne roads (previously Angie's Bar and, later, Kramer's Korner) was a real eyesore.

Is "Excitement" Always Good?

by Dave Atkins

This town gets a little more exciting every day.

I always thought that the Fourth of July was an exciting time of the year, but it looks as though Independence Day is going to have to be pretty wild to beat the happenings of the last few days of June.

Between people getting arrested for the possession of a handgun, houses getting busted for the sale or use of illegal drugs, a chemical tanker exploding, and a young girl being set on fire, our little out-of-the-way town has received a great deal of media coverage in the past week. (All of this, of course, in addition to the usual stuff like the School Board and the teachers' union being at each other's throats.) Unfortunately, this isn't the kind of excitement that we citizens want to see in our town on an everyday basis.

On a more upbeat note, there were lots of seniors graduating this month, and it was good to see so many young people doing their best to make a real success of their lives. (The graduation parties were fun, too.)

Also in the news was the Mayor's return from her trip to Washington, D.C., where there was much ado about the future interchange at Vining Road and I-94. Can you imagine our nation's capital city having meetings about little ol' Romulus? Actually, it's pretty hard to imagine Washington becoming too excited about anything these days, since its people are so preoccupied with the latest decision of the highest court in the land, which says that it's okay to burn the American flag, or to walk on it (as I saw done on TV today).

I, personally, resent that decision, since I have relatives who died fighting to keep that flag flying over this land. It's the symbol of all the freedoms that we, as Americans, enjoy — freedoms that no one else on this earth has. I'm sure that all of us are aware of the recent deaths of many Chinese citizens who demonstrated for freedom in their country. Can you imagine what the punishment for burning a flag would be in a nation like that?

Yep, it's been a very exciting month.

Actually, I guess it's best to look at the bright side as much as possible. After all, the arrests are as positive, in a way, as the graduations and meetings in Washington, since they also lead to the betterment of the Community.

I really did have something else that I wanted to write about, but, for the life of me, I can't remember just what it is right now. I'm sure, though, that I'll think of it later, so if you'll just read the rest of the paper, you're sure to come across whatever it is. (Although, for the life of you, you may not be able to figure out which of my stories it's in.)

Don't worry — I probably won't remember which one it is, either. □

Big Bang Rocks Residents

by Dave Atkins

It was a rockin' night last Friday, as many local residents felt an explosion in the southwest end of Romulus.

At approximately 6:30 p.m. on June 23, contaminated chemicals in a tanker parked at Chem Central exploded. One resident said that the mushroom-type cloud which formed as a result resembled that of an atomic bomb. Fallout from the cloud left a dark, almost-black residue over many buildings, streets, trees, and homes.

Russell Lambert, who is running for City Council in the upcoming election, was taken to Annapolis Hospital, along with several children, but all were eventually released.

The truck was owned by Peerless Trucking, and had been in Detroit loading the chemical for the Dow Chemical Company (of Midland, Michigan) to be transported to Chem Central, which would receive it. Evidently, the chemicals were contaminated in Detroit and, as they were transported to Romulus, pressure kept building in the tanker until it finally exploded at the Chem Central location.

This is not the first time that Dow has been in the news concerning its chemical-hauling through Romulus. Every Tuesday evening, at about 6 p.m., a train loaded with hazardous chemicals passes through our city. It is commonly known as the "Death Train."

Several major newspapers have carried articles on Friday's mishap, and just about all of them would lead you to believe that Chem Central was responsible for the mishap. Actually, that is not so; the real problem stemmed from the loading of the carrier in Detroit, and was not the fault of anyone here in Romulus.

Chem Central Plant Supervisor John Stoner escorted the Haz-Mat (Hazardous Materials) team to the explosion area to identify the chemicals. It was concluded that the materials in the truck were metholine chloride (which is used in making paint stripper) and dietholemine (which is used to make soap). Both of these chemicals are non-toxic and non-hazardous.

One lady complained that her feet turned orange when she walked through her grass. Romulus Fire Chief William Greenslait stated that the material she referred to is nothing more than soap, and can be washed off without much problem.

Chem Central immediately hired an outside firm to clean up the residue from the explosion. According to Greenslait, the work was begun Friday night and ended late Sunday.

Chem Central informed the Fire Chief that if any more problems arose from the mishap, they would be taken care of immediately. □

A MESSAGE FROM THE SENIOR CLASS

by Mary Clark

Special thanks are due to State Representative Jim Kosteva and Barbara Schultz for contributing information to this issue's "Senior Class" news.

Helpful Tips for Traveling with Your Grandchildren

Traveling with your grandchildren can be a great way to spend time together and develop a greater appreciation for their talents and personalities.

There's no better way to see our country than by motorhome or travel trailer with the comfort, convenience, and privacy afforded by bringing your accommodations with you. However, as anyone who has ever traveled for more than 10 miles with children knows, extended trips can try the patience of a saint.

To make your trip an enjoyable holiday, keep in mind these travel tips from Holiday Rambler Corporation, manufacturer of motorhomes, travel trailers, and fifth wheels.

- Involve the grandchildren in preparing for the trip — deciding where to go, what to do, and in packing and loading the RV.
- When choosing which attractions to visit, select a variety of things so each person enjoys some things. If a pre-schooler will be traveling with you, remember that he or she is too young to really enjoy attractions such as museums or curiosity shops, preferring zoos, parks, and playgrounds.
- To answer the often repeated question of "When are we going to get there?" have brochures of where you are going and extra roadmaps to show where you are.
- Have plenty of healthy snacks such as crackers, nuts, fruit juices, and cold water on hand.
- Brush up on all the "travel games" you played with your children — finding state license plates, billboard alphabet, travel bingo, etc. Pack plenty of games, puzzles, and coloring books as well. Bring along taped stories and songs, taking turns choosing tapes to play so that everyone, including the driver, can enjoy the diversion. Older children — and you — will appreciate having a personal radio and cassette player with earphones.

- Plan for regular stops at rest areas or tourist attractions. Keep the travel schedule light so you have time to relax. Take time to play a little frisbee or throw a softball.
- A trip can be an excellent time to educate children about money. Give each child a specific amount of money to spend on the trip, and emphasize that he or she is responsible for its safekeeping, and for choosing how to spend it.
- Children old enough to have chores at home can have chores when it's time to set up camp. Even young children can experience the pleasure of being "grown up" — perhaps setting up lawn chairs or assisting older siblings with a task.
- Remember that kids tire more easily and become cranky when traveling. Complimenting them on positive behavior and allowing a little bend of "home rules" can make the trip more enjoyable for all.
- When you reach the campsite, reward children's good behavior and cooperative spirit displayed during the day — regardless of how many times they had to be disciplined. Doing so sets the stage for good behavior the next day, and can go a long way in smoothing road-weary family relationships.

These 10 tips will help make your next RV vacation a fun family holiday.

Measure Would Protect Older Insurance Consumers

Several important insurance bills approved by the Legislature would protect older insurance consumers buying long-term health care policies. The legislation creates minimum standards for the sale and marketing of long-term care insurance. The bills also prohibit insurers from canceling a policy because of the age or declining health of the policy holder.

"Medicap" Bill Would Assist Seniors

A bill to prohibit physicians serving Medicare patients from charging unreasonable fees is being considered by House lawmakers. Under the measure, physicians would be required to bill Medicare, and collect from the patient only the allowed deductible plus 20% of the reasonable charge determined by Medicare. Medicare patients would not have to complete paperwork on their own.

by TOM SHAMANSKI

A month ago, I finally decided to leap into the 1970's (one decade at a time, please), and learn some vital stuff about computers. Up until then, I viewed computers as I viewed a Picasso: nice to look at, but what the heck is it? Plus, I'm not exactly what you'd call a forward-looking guy. To me, prime time means the 1950's, hardware is a store, software is cotton pajamas and Angora sweaters, and a bottom line is, "Hi, do you come here often?" But despite these foot-dragging tendencies, I sensed I'd better latch onto The Good Ship Technology before I blew my job to a 12-year-old key-punching whiz.

I should tell you, folks, my final decision was heavily influenced by my sister, Judy, who has her own dance studio. She knew I had been tinkering with the idea of taking a computer course. Apparently, she had been scheming and lying in wait, as she wanted me to take the course and computerize her business stuff. Finally, her moment came one lazy Sunday afternoon, just as I began emerging from a delicious nap, rubbing my eyes and wiggling my toes. Squinting, I vaguely glimpsed her standing above me, smiling, and heard, "Gee, I hope you had a good nap. Oh, by the way, if you'll take that computer class and program my studio, I'll pay half your tuition." Still mostly foggy, I yawned and replied, "Okay, but I'll pay you back when I get some extra money." That was it — she had me! Judy grinned, whirled, and called back, "That sounds fair; you've got a deal!" as she quickly tap-danced out of the room.

Soon fully awake, and comprehending my noble, but stupid, remark, I figured that the only way I could come out ahead here was never to fall into any extra cash. But not to worry, folks, because, except for finding three rubles once, while snorkeling off the eastern coast of Siberia, I haven't seen any extra bucks for 10 or 12 years. I think this deal will work out okay.

Now, after a few classes, I'm more bewildered about computers than before, but with assurances that this is common . . . right! But I have learned some, ah, interesting computer lingo: like, for instance, "Garbage In — Garbage Out." Heck, that's nothing new; my body's been screaming that for years! Then, there's the term, "user friendly." Please, can anyone tell me why computer people even need that phrase? I mean, did IBM, at some unenlightened point, crank out a computer that punched back? Did it spit data into the user's eye, or perhaps byte the hand feeding it?

Forget computers on this . . . but there are lots of real-life instances where "user friendly" would be nice. Most of us, I'm sure, could use a tad more user friendliness from our bosses. (We, of course, being the "used" factor in this equation!) Also, it would be terrific if my car was user friendly. My gosh, at times, that old Escort seems to compute the moment that I'm least able to cope with an automotive overload . . . and then self-destructs based upon that data!

Sugar! Imagine if sugar became user friendly! Certainly, sugary calories would vanish and, if it became extremely friendly, maybe sugar would even search and destroy fat cells. I'm pretty sure I could input cookies and doughnuts all day, all the while knowing that I was cruising to slim-and-trim land.

"Electronic mail" is a somewhat confusing term. I had best re-read my text's definition of EM (warning: computer types thrive on initials and acronyms, IYKWIM), but electronic mail sounds suspiciously like Morse code to me. But I'm wondering: could EM be when our letter-carriers begin stuffing mailboxes with disks and tapes? Since most of my mail is bills and wasted advertising, "user friendly" takes a harsh beating here.

Lastly, I've noticed most news stories concerning computers make mention of people called "hackers." Again, I'm not sure what a hacker is, but big bucks are usually involved in these stories. Hmmm . . . maybe I'll just drop this course and see if I can locate a hacker's school. Can't hurt, right? □

An Open Letter of Thanks

As this year's chairperson of the Romulus Arts Council, I would like to express our sincerest thanks to the community for supporting our latest fund raiser, Deadly Room Service. Because of your support, the Romulus Arts Council was able to raise $1000, which will enable us to continue to provide programs throughout the coming year.

The following people deserve a special thanks for their valued assistance:

- the Detroit Metro Airport Holiday Inn (or, in my opinion, better named the Romulus Holiday Inn for their continuing support and concern for and involvement in the community) and its staff, particularly General Manager Barry Toms and Sales Director Christa Quandt;
- the Romulus Police Department (especially Lieutenant David Early, Sergeant Danny Snyder, Sergeant Darryl Poe, Officer Tom Ellis, Officer Alan Lambert, Secretary Katie Kearns, Co-op Stacey Whitely, the Romulus Reserve Officers, and sign-maker Gerry Szweda), for their enthusiastic acceptance of the project and their technical assistance;
- the local Romulus businesses (Bob Evans, Dave's Barber Shop, Dave's Meat & Seafood, Holiday Inn, In-Balance Center, Romulus IGA, Romulus Tanning Salon, and Shady Hollow Golf Club), for donating prizes for the winning teams;
- the cast of Deadly Room Service (Mayor Beverly McAnally, Councilman "Pete" Bergeron, Councilman William Wadsworth, School Superintendent Dr. William Bedell, Board of Education member Howard Kesner, Sergeant Danny Snyder, Officer Tom Ellis, Officer Alan Lambert, Maria Lambert, Community Development Director Dennis Oakes, Barry and Kathy Toms, Betsey Brown, Jeffrey Martell, Julie Glotfelty, Michael Berry, Corey Chandler, Sheldon Chandler, Lindsey Brugger, and Charles Hudson), for taking time out of their busy schedules to put in long hours of work on the play;
- to the "unseen" cast members: City Treasurer James Napiorkowski (for preparing the program guide), City Attorney Ron Mack (for his guidance and suggestions), Bill Crane of Crane Funeral Home (for donating the tickets), Pat Ditsch (the author of Deadly Room Service), Dave Atkins of The Romulus News (for his excellent coverage), Russel Lambert (for the set up and use of his sound equipment), and Barbara Fortune and Carole Bales (for coordinating the police interrogation area);

- and last, but certainly not least, the members of the Romulus Arts Council: Gloria Chandler, Jim Galovich, Phyllis Kreft, Maria Lambert, Anna Moore, Julie and Ron Oleszkowicz, Tom Robinson, and Susan and Andy Watts.

Thank you all for your hard work and dedication in helping make this project a success!

Sincerely,

Alice Kesner, Chairperson
Romulus Arts Council □

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor,

I would like to publicly thank Mr. Barry Toms, Manager, and Ms. Elaine Helton, Human Resource Director of the Holiday Inn, for the experiences they have provided the students of Hayti Elementary School. The Holiday Inn was Hayti's partner in education for the last few months of this school year.

Starting with a visit to Hayti Elementary by the Holiday Inn's management team, and continuing through this week's sixth-grade pool and pizza party, they have been a model of hospitality and cooperation.

We are proud to be the Holiday Inn's first educational partner.

Sincerely,

Harold Connon, Principal
Hayti Elementary School

On June 9, 911 Emergency Service was instituted in Romulus. On June 17, my husband, Castle Crook, suffered a heart attack. Within minutes after calling 911, two emergency vehicles arrived.

The officers who responded were well trained and did their best to make my husband as comfortable as possible and reassure our family until the Fire Rescue arrived. They immediately began giving my husband oxygen and assessing his condition.

The only concern we had was the response time of the ambulance. The 25 minute response time could have been a problem.

It seems to me that a city of this size needs to have more than one ambulance on duty in the area.

We would like to commend the Police and Fire departments for a job well done, and assure them that, thanks to them, my husband is on his way to recovery.

Thank you all again for your help.

Sincerely,

Janet Crook and family

We would like to thank Russell Lambert and the firemen at Station #1 for their concern for the boys in Mr. Lambert's car last Friday night at the time of the explosion at Chem Central. Mr. Lambert took the boys to Fire Station #1, where they were all checked out by our Fire Department Emergency Medical Crew, and the decision was made to take them all to the hospital. While waiting to see which hospital the ambulance would take them to, I saw the ambulance pass the fire station twice.

We need an ambulance service that knows where they are going. The second time the ambulance passed the fire station, a fire engine was about to leave and he turned on his lights and siren, and the ambulance kept right on going down Northline toward Wayne Road. We know that it is a new ambulance service, but they should be able to read the City map and find a fire station.

Family Reunion Held

In January of 1986, members of the Hudson/Norris family of Michigan (the Jackson, Lewis, Perry, Underwood, and West families) met to plan the 1986 Hudson/Norris Family Reunion, which was held in Birmingham, Alabama.

In 1987, the Family's second reunion was held here in Romulus. The guest speaker, Mayor Beverly McAnally, presented keys to the City to the out-of-town guests, and the Rev. Dr. Herbert Hinkle of Westland spoke and gave the blessing.

This year's reunion will be held on June 30 in Cleveland, Ohio, and the entire family is looking forward to the event with great pleasure. The Chairperson of the Michigan Reunion Committee, Barbara Underwood of Romulus, says that the Michigan families are praying for an enjoyable visit and a safe trip home.

The reunions are organized by committees in Romulus, Michigan; Cleveland, Ohio (Rita L. Haynes, Chairperson); and Birmingham, Alabama (Jerald C. Norris, Chairperson). The members of the Michigan committee are: Barbara Underwood (Chairperson), Mary W. Jackson (Vice Chairperson), Lovell West (Program Chairperson), Laverne West (Finance Secretary), Edna West Lewis (Secretary), John Perry (Sergeant at Arms), and Joe Underwood, Louis Perry, and Herman West, Sr. (guides). □

'CALL AHEAD FOR FASTER SERVICE'

Junior High Council

The formal education of a young person is, of course, extremely important, but it takes more than knowing "the three Rs" to be a happy, productive member of society. Students often acquire qualities like leadership and a sense of social responsibility through their involvement in extracurricular activities, and one group, in particular, which affords students the opportunity to learn about such qualities is the Student Council.

The Romulus Junior High Student Council was extremely active during the 1988-1989 school year. Its accomplishments included:

- presenting 10 dances for the student body, including assuming the costs for professional decorating, disc jockey, and refreshments for the eighth graders' Graduation Dance;
- contributing $200 toward the construction of the new showcases in the School lobby;
- contributing $200 toward the cost of the Honors Banquet;

- "adopting" a child through Save the Children, with monthly contributions of $20;
- anonymously purchasing eyeglasses for a Junior High student in need;
- collecting food for the hungry in Romulus through the Romulus Goodfellows by charging an "admission" of two cans of food for the Sharing Dance in November;
- paying the disc jockey for the Sharing Dance ($150);
- sponsoring student participation in the March of Dimes WalkAmerica (100 students and staff were involved in the effort);
- purchasing a lectern with microphone and speakers for the school;
- and purchasing a portable, battery-operated microphone and speaker for the school.

The Student Council members of 1988-1989 were: eighth graders Kathy Adams, Jessica Austria, Bob Bergeron, Andrea Brown, Cathleen Brown, Trish Cox, Maria deLeon, Missy Griffith, Tracy Holtschlag, Laura Madison, Barbara Markowski, Brian Molenda, Chipper Thomas, Robb Thompson, Stephanie Webb, and Diane Zemke; and seventh graders Kristin Bishop, Steve DeBellefeuille, Kateisha Frazier, Olivia Fry, Michelle Luttermoser, Ben Pate, Faith Piro, Staci Steffani, Jamie Taylor, Jaime Thompson, and Montrisha Wyatt.

The Romulus Junior High Student Council is funded through profits from the Coke machine located in the Student Lounge. Fund raisers included Valentine flower sales and the sale of class sweatshirts. □ Barth's Disney Program a Hit!

On June 7, fifth- and sixth-grade students from Barth Elementary thrilled 275 parents and friends when they presented the musical, Disney Spectacular. The Disney dancers demonstrated their talents as they danced and sang while the choir, directed by Barth music teacher Gwendolyn Nelson, accompanied them.

The children turned their theater into "the happiest place on earth" in their performance of 21 of Walt Disney's wonderful songs. Beginning with "Zip-

A-Dee-Doo Dah," the kids smiled their way through such favorites as "The Ballad of Davey Crockett," "Give a Little Whistle," "When You Wish Upon a Star," "Supercalifragilisticexpialidocious," "Chim Chim Cheree," and the theme from the Mickey Mouse Club. Barth's principal, Charles Shamey, directed the musical.

Still gleaming from the standing ovation they received at school, the kids were invited to perform at Boblo Island's Riverfront Saloon and Theatre, where they pleased and delighted the lunch-time crowd. Following two performances, the Barth students enjoyed the Boblo festivities as guests of Ted Diesburg of Boblo Island management.

The Disney dancers were: Tawny Ashby, Monica Atherton, Antoine Barnett, Denise Bednar, Dusty Brendtke, Danny Bussard, Alissa Corbin, Casandra Donaldson, Jason Flatt, Tonya Frye, Terri Green, Alicia Hackney, Amanda Harden, Kristi Hardrick, Stacey Hubert, Amie Jager, China Jones, Heather Kuhrt, Glenn Longre, Jaime Luczak, Joshua McKeith, Christine Maynor, Roger Maynor, Roggett Peterson, Kim

by Murray A. Duncan, Jr., Attorney

A preliminary breath test (PBT) is the breath test that is given by police officers at the scene of the arrest. A PBT is not admissible in court as evidence. The PBT can be used to give the arresting officer probable cause to arrest.

Failure to take the PBT does not result in an automatic six points and a six-month license suspension. Failure to take the PBT does result in a civil infraction, and a ticket will be issued by the officer. The usual fine for refusing to take the PBT is $100.

Once an arrest is made and the suspect is taken to the station, a second breath test will be offered. Refusing to take the test at the station will result in six points on the driving record and a six-month suspension of the driver's license with no restrictions. Further, if the suspect blows a .10 or higher, an Unlawful Blood Alcohol Level (UBAL) ticket will be issued.

If you have a legal question that you would like answered, you may send your question to my office and I will attempt to answer it in a future issue. Questions should be mailed to: Murray A. Duncan, Jr., 10000 South Wayne Road, Romulus, Michigan 48174. □

37th District

House Approves Education Quality Bill

House lawmakers have approved a bill that would help improve the quality of education in Michigan schools. Under the bill, Michigan school districts would be allowed to develop a core curriculum. School districts also could adopt and implement a three- to five-year school improvement plan for each school.

Bill Would Permit Funding for Recycling

The Legislature approved a bill that would permit Michigan counties to impose an annual surcharge of up to $25 per household to fund costly recycling and other waste-reduction programs.

House Okays Bottle Bill

House lawmakers have approved legislation that would divide the revenue from unclaimed bottle deposits between State environmental programs and retailers. Under the bill, 75% of the money would go to State environmental clean-up work and 25% would go to retailers to offset their costs associated with Michigan's deposit law.

Pilot Program Would Help AIDS Patients

Funding for the first year of a pilot "buy-in" program to help reduce Medicaid expenditures for AIDS patients has been approved by House and Senate Appropriations committees. Under the pilot program, the State would pay the insurance premiums of persons with AIDS who would lose their existing coverage when the illness progresses and they are no longer able to work.

Bills Would Roll Back Auto Insurance Rates

House lawmakers are considering legislation that would reduce auto insurance rates in Michigan by up to 20%. The proposed legislation also would ban insurance "red-lining" (territorial base rates in urban areas), require the State's insurance commissioner to approve auto insurance rate increases, and subject auto insurance carriers to standard anti-trust and consumer protection laws.

Bill Would Require Rental Car Coverage

A new House bill would require collision damage waiver (CDW) coverage for rental cars in automotive insurance policies offered to Michigan motorists. Car rental companies often include CDWs in the rental agreement, usually for about $10 a day, despite the fact that many customers have coverage for rental cars in their regular auto insurance policy. The bill would ensure that all Michigan policy holders were offered CDW coverage, which would help eliminate unnecessary insurance premium duplication.

House Considers Horse Vaccinations for Disease Control

House members are considering a bill that would require horses to be vaccinated against equine encephalomyelitis and other diseases that can be transmitted to humans through mosquito bites. Horses would have to be vaccinated before they are publicly shown or sold in the State.

House Measures Would Protect Great Lakes from Toxic Spills

Legislation has been introduced in the House to protect the Great Lakes and their connecting waterways from spilled oil or hazardous chemicals. The bills would create "isolation zones" around public water intake facilities and establish a State program to prevent spills from fuel manufacturing plants or vessels that transport or store hazardous substances in or near Great Lakes waters. The legislation also calls for a State-wide response plan for hazardous substance spills in the Great Lakes.

Probate Court Jurisdiction Clarified

For several years, there has been confusion over whether the probate or the circuit court has exclusive jurisdiction over legal cases involving wills and estates. This has caused inconvenience for heirs and other persons with an interest in an estate. New laws resolve the confusion by clearly establishing that the probate court has exclusive jurisdiction over matters relating to the settlement of the estate of a deceased person.

New House Committee Will Examine Criminal Justice System

A recently appointed House Special Committee on the Criminal Justice System will examine a wide range of issues, including the role of drugs and alcohol in criminal behavior, incarceration as an effective deterrent, and State and local crime-fighting efforts. The committee will report its findings to the House and recommend appropriate legislative action in these areas. A similar committee investigation spurred last year's package of 69 new laws to reduce crime in Michigan.

Bill Would Protect Food-bank Donors

The House has voted to provide immunity from lawsuits to people who donate food to nonprofit organizations for distribution to the poor. Some businesses and farmers have been reluctant to donate processed food or farm products to charitable food banks for fear of being sued if a recipient became ill after eating the donated food. This immunity would not apply if the donor knowingly gave tainted or otherwise harmful food.

Measure Would Prohibit State Agencies from "Scalping"

House lawmakers are considering a bill that would prohibit State departments and agencies from "scalping" or illegally re-selling tickets for sports or other entertainment events in excess of face value. The bill's introduction came on the heels of a drug raid in which officials of the State's Treasury Department seized several NBA playoff tickets, which they were compelled by current law to auction to the highest bidder.

How Weather Affects Us

This fifteenth of a series of articles on Chiropractic medicine is reprinted from Pain, Headaches, & Stress by Chester A. Wilk, D.C., P.C., and was submitted by Dan Elwart, D.C.

We've all heard about how the weather affects how we feel. Actually, it is thought to be the barometric pressure. Here is what happens:

- We live within an ocean of air. The atmospheric pressure pushing upon our body is enormous. The reason we are not "crushed" by this air is because there is an equal pressure within us pushing outward. Thus, the inside and outside pressures are neutralized.
- The atmospheric pressure around us may drop suddenly before a storm. The pressure inside of us pushing outward does not equalize as quickly as the atmospheric pressure around us, and so we "swell" or expand outward. When this happens, our body fluids flow into the tissue spaces, putting more pressure on the nerve endings. Aches and pains are more likely to follow.

- What comes down must go up (and vice versa), and so, after the storm clears and the atmospheric pressure goes up, the environmental pressure "squeezes" our body. This pushes the fluids from the tissue spaces back into the blood vessels. Less pressure on the nerve endings result in the tissue spaces, and the pain diminishes or disappears.

Of course, we cannot do anything about the weather or barometer, but we can do something about the level of health of our body so that it can cope better with the environment. The answer lies with chiropractic treatments, which improve the body's mechanics, blood circulation, and nerve flow. We enjoy greater health and less of the "weather-related" aches and pains. □

Radford Walks with Class

by Dave Atkins

Even though, technically speaking, he has not yet completed the twelfth grade, Romulus High School senior Rick Radford walked in the graduation ceremony of the Class of 1989. Rick obtained special permission to do so because an extended hospital stay, after an earlier car accident in which he sustained extremely serious injuries, kept him from completing enough credits to meet the graduation requirements of the High School. He will go back to school in the fall to complete the remaining credits.

A graduation party for Rick was held at the Radford home, and approximately 100 people attended to wish Rick every success in the future. □

HAVE A SAFE & HAPPY 4th OF JULY! — Dave

We're located on Wayne Road just South of Wick Road

It's Our Second Anniversary!

by Dave Atkins

With this issue, The Romulus News is celebrating its second anniversary. Though many thought, at the start, that "the little paper" would not be around for long, we've "hung in there," and managed to outlast their expectations.

These past two years have been enjoyable ones for all of us here at the Paper, and we would like to take this opportunity to express our appreciation to all the folks who have helped to make this publication such a success in the Community.

Our thanks go, first of all, to the many people who have contributed to the Paper with news tips, articles, and photographs. Without you, our small staff of four (myself, my wife Evelyn, my daughter Kristi, and my mother-in-law Mary) could not have given the wide variety of events in our city as much coverage as they deserve.

We also would like to express our gratitude to our advertisers, who have kept the faith that we would do their business some good because of the number of people that our newspaper reaches. We also would like to thank you, our readers, for supporting our advertisers because, without them, there would be no "little paper."

Two other groups which deserve our appreciation are the City's administration (Mayor Beverly McAnally, Treasurer James Napiorkowski, City Clerk Linda Choate, the entire City Council, and the various department heads) and the Romulus Schools administration (Dr. William Bedell, Superintendent, and the members of our School Board), all of whom have been invaluable sources of help and information, even though some of the articles in the Paper have not always been entirely complimentary toward them. We would also like to thank Superintendent Bedell and the School Board for allowing us to print the minutes of their meetings, which has been a big financial support.

In the end, mere words cannot really express the gratitude that all of us here at the Paper feel toward all of you. We can only try to show our appreciation by continuing to supply you with news about our community — hopefully, for many years to come. Remember, we're still the only real hometown newspaper in Romulus, and it's you who makes us great! □

ishment in jeopardy for a dollar drink when he can make much more money by serving food.

Acker's application already has been approved by the Liquor Control Commission (LCC), but, at this point, the City has refused to issue him a permit to extend his hours, based on the sole recommendation of Romulus Police Chief Fred Dansby. When I asked Dansby about it, he said, "Let the bars serve drinks and the restaurants serve food." His attitude is justified to a point . . . but only to a point.

Most people are smart enough to realize that, if you've been drinking all night, it's not very smart to drive right away. That's why so many of those people who do frequent bars make stops at places like nearby restaurants before attempting to drive home. In a restaurant, the lights are usually a little brighter and the atmosphere is a little more stimulating. By the time they've ordered their food, been served, eaten, and enjoyed some small talk over coffee, their level of intoxication has definitely decreased and, consequently, their ability to drive safely will have increased.

City Council members are taking the stand that there is no other bar in town with such a permit, so they can't base a decision on any past experience. It was also made clear to me that this is an election year, and that issuing a permit of this type might be an act of political suicide. It seems to me that both of these are sorry excuses for denying the permit requested by Acker.

I certainly have no vested interest in whether or not he gets the permit. I only know that, if the Police Chief and Council members had taken approximately seven minutes of their time and done some checking, as I did, they would have made the same discoveries that I made.

I called the Brownstown Police Department and spoke with their Inspector Grant. He told me that there are two bars in Brownstown with permits to remain open after hours to serve food so that their patrons will not be as intoxicated when they leave, and it is working very well for them. "I think staying open after hours is a good idea, as long as no alcohol is served," Grant stated. "It seems that, when they turn all the lights up and the place brightens up, people do eat, and eating does lower the blood alcohol level." He also went on to say that neither the Cimmaron nor Free Spirits (the two clubs) have given the Brownstown Police Department any problems after hours because each bar polices its own establishment. In fact, according to Grant, Free Spirits charges a hefty cover charge after hours for those coming in from another bar to eat.

At the June 26 Council meeting, Acker stated, "It seems that everything I try to do is negated. The Chief said he does not have the manpower to monitor the bar, (yet) he has enough manpower that uniformed officers do stop in and walk through the crowd, checking the identification of my customers."

Councilman Ellis Pennington said, "I do feel reluctant in taking a position. I feel I would be putting myself in the position of overriding our police chief, although I do see good points in serving food (after hours)."

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry also said he would feel reluctant about going against Dansby, and Councilman Randy Gear made a motion that the whole matter be tabled until the next meeting, when the Council can arrange to have Acker and the Police Chief together at the meeting to discuss the issue. □
